Remembering the sacrifice of others

It is at this time of the year that we remember all the men and women of the armed forces and other services who gave their lives for their country in two world wars and other conflicts since.

In a year that has been difficult for so many different reasons, it has been even more so for the families of those service men and women who have either lost loved ones, or have had a loved one injured while serving their country.

A week ago, the Royal British Legion launched the 2008 Poppy Appeal and members of branches throughout the country, along with other volunteers, started knocking on doors or standing in the streets with their collecting boxes and poppies, whatever the weather, in the hope that you will give generously in support of those service personnel and their families who need our help.

Last year the Youlgrave and District branch collected the sum of £2,237.33 for the appeal. This was achieved with the help of the ladies section of the Royal British Legion and local businesses and others in Youlgrave, Stanton in Peak and

Middleton by Youlgrave, who kindly volunteer their services each year. We are grateful to every one for the support that has been given over many years by both young and the not so young alike.

For the past 17 years, Mrs Margaret Pursglove of Middleton by Youlgrave has been a volunteer and now enlists the help of her grand daughters, Billie and Esme, whose Great Grandfather, Mr Raymond Brassington of Youlgrave, was a Japanese Prisoner of War.

PARISH COUNCIL MAKES DONATION FOR MEMORIAL

Youlgrave Parish Council has made a small donation towards a permanent overseas memorial for the Sherwood Foresters Regiment, following a regional appeal.

The Sherwood Foresters have been connected to Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire since 1742, but their greatest contribution was during the First World War when they raised 32 Battalions, 17 of which saw active service on the Western Front. During this period some 140,000 men served in the Regiment (more than the whole of the British Army today!), mostly drawn from parishes throughout the two counties. Of the number who served, 11,409 gave their lives, and many more died at home after the end of the War as a result of their wounds or ill treatment as Prisoners of War.

Despite numerous overseas war memorials, there is not one for the Sherwood Foresters, so a location has been secured near the Tyne Cott Visitor Centre, Passchendaele, Ypres, in Belgium. The memorial will be made out of Derbyshire stone and its manufacture, transportation and installation will cost £14,000.

Youlgrave Parish Council joins Derbyshire Dales District Council and many other local authorities in making donations towards this worthy cause.

For more details or to make a donation contact The Worcestershire & Sherwood Foresters Regimental Association, Foresters House, Chetwynd Barracks, Chilwell, Nottingham NG9 5HA, tel 0115 9465415 (cheques payable to 'RHQ Mercian' and please indicate that's it's for the 'Western Front Memorial').

Some of the local men from the Sherwood Foresters who died in the First World War (information supplied by the Regimental Association):

Did Youlgrave Waterworks add something special to the water nine months ago or did we have a prolonged power cut at the beginning of the year?! Pupils' creative work on show at Youlgrave Climate Change Awareness Day

Artwork and poetry by the children of All Saints School will be on display at Sustainable Youlgrave's Climate Change Awareness event at the Village Hall on Saturday 1 November.

The pupils took sustainability and climate change as their theme and produced an imaginative and inspired collection of work – from hopeful visions of how the world should be to practical messages about recycling, saving water and looking after the planet.

Sustainable Youlgrave's Chairman, John Youatt, was very impressed. "This is a tremendous contribution," he said. "It shows a great awareness and creativity, and proves that it is more important than ever to make sure that we deliver a world that is safe and healthy for future generations. Sustainable Youlgrave looks forward to

The event at the Village Hall runs from 11am to 3pm and also features displays on composting, hydro and solar power, short films about climate change, a 'blind water-tasting' (guess which one's Pommie Water and which is Severn Trent!), badge-making for younger visitors, information and tours of Bankside Wildlife Garden, a carbon challenge and give-away items such as low energy light bulbs. There will also be plenty of energy-saving ideas to cut down on your household bills. Weather permitting, there will also be events and displays outside.

It's free to enter and there will be locally-sourced refreshments on offer all day.

Thanks very much to the Wesleyan Reform Church. They held their Harvest Coffee Morning on Saturday 18 October. Just over £120 was raised and given to the Youlgrave-Bangbutt Village Link. It will be used to buy one of 4 bicycles needed for the teachers in Bangbutt who live between 3 and 6 miles away. Walking 6-12 miles each day and teaching all day is rather time consuming and tiring!

Bangbutt re-visited

West African village school finally opens – with help from Youlgrave

Bangbutt-Youlgrave Primary School is now officially opened! To everyone's surprise, the clinic and latrine block were also finished in time for the opening ceremony. In spite of being the rainy season, not a drop of rain fell on 29 September 2008. High above the school, perhaps 30 feet, fluttered a Sierra Leone flag side by side with a Union Jack, on the highest bamboo poles we had ever seen.

Traditional Sierra Leonean celebrations of singing and dancing followed, with much excitement and great enthusiasm. Children gathered in the school hall and sang their welcome. This was followed with a musical drama by eight young girls. Their story showed the sadness of many girls without school uniform, who then feel unable to attend school. Hopefully in time this can be remedied.

This second visit was different. No longer the unknown, but returning to visit friends made previously. In Bangbutt for four nights, we had more time to explore, visit families and 'chat' to them, through an interpreter. We visited four other villages, precariously riding pillion on motor bikes, along rocky paths dotted with puddles 8 inches deep! Many in these villages have benefited from the goats bought for Bangbutt, have taken part in the tailoring training and have experienced the Learning Circles.

Visits were made in Freetown and Magburaka (capital of Tonkolili district, covering Bangbutt) to Ministries of Education and Health, the District Council Offices, VSO and the United Methodist Church Education Department. All promised help and resources. We will see, but they will all be chased up!

We also visited primary and secondary schools, and the Blind School in Freetown. We had a busy time, learnt a lot, made many new friends and came away sadly, not wanting to leave.

We left with a thousand thanks from our friends in Bangbutt and all the dignitaries attending the opening ceremony. They wanted to thank all of Youlgrave and our other supporters for the help we have given to them to re-establish their country after the devastation of civil war.

We still have more to do. School equipment is very limited. Never enough books for each child. No English Readers. No furniture or equipment for the clinic. At least one more year for financing the Learning Circles. And when all this is done? Next we move on to another village?! As long as we in the West manage to live in relative luxury, compared to our friends in so many other parts of the world, we must continue to do our best to help others. We are so very, very lucky. We must never forget that...

Sustainable Youlgrave: the next step

Sustainable Youlgrave will shortly be commissioning a consultant to carry out a full feasibility study into the viability of setting up and running one or more anaerobic digestion (AD) biogas plants in the Bradford Valley.

The aim is to generate biogas or electricity and heat from on-farm organic waste (and possibly off-farm wastes) for use or sale, and produce safe farm digestates to displace artificial fertilisers presently in use. Farmers are under increasing regulation regarding the application of raw slurry to their land where they are situated in Nitrate Vulnerable Zones (which restrict the nitrate application and spreading dates). This in turn creates storage and spreading issues for farmers. The competitive tender enquiry has been sent out to four consultants. The successful one will contact all working farmers in the Bradford valley to find out those interested and gather relevant data from them about their farm system and operation and other local off-farm wastes, before analysing them against all other associated aspects and constraints. The study will consider local transportation, appropriate types of AD plant, identify possible plant sites, consider plant operation, regulations and the economics of finance and carbon.

Anaerobic digestion, as defined by the Renewable Energy Association, is a natural biological process carried out by bacteria in the absence of air, by which organic material is broken down into stable fertiliser and useful biogas. These anaerobic bacteria are an integral component of nature's waste management and are commonly found in soils and deep waters, as well as in landfill sites.

During August, Sustainable Youlgrave organised a group visit to Ludlow for local Peak District farmers interested in knowing more about AD. They visited a pioneering site run by specialists Greenfinch, which deals with much of South Shropshire's organic green waste. It was a highly interesting and useful visit, prompting much positive debate.

Youlgrave Brownies' Egyptian Cafe

On 16th October 2008, 1st Youlgrave Brownies did an Egyptian Cafe. We did it because we are raising money so Brownies, not so fortunate as ourselves, can have a cafe where at least they can feel safe. We could have picked Africa or India, but 1st Youlgrave Brownies chose a place called Anguila. You may ask, where is Anguila? Well Anguila is in the British Oversea territory in the Caribbean. We raised £55 by having Egyptian cakes and biscuits, Egyptian information, Egyptian games and an Egyptian dance led by me. We're raising for an Internet Cafe. Most important thing is everyone had a good time – the brownies, the leaders and everyone who made it possible.

1st YOULGRAVE GUIDES

A huge thank you to everyone who supported the Guides Auction of Promises on Friday 17 October. We had an amazing number of lots, ranging from generous donations from local businesses and people to the girls promising a range of services – from homemade cards and bird boxes to car washes and tapas evenings. Mr Taylor of Fidler Taylor very kindly gave his time to preside over the event and we made a fantastic £2,745!

We have now booked our flights and accommodation in Iceland for the trip next year and are keeping a very careful watch on the Icelandic Krona!

Our weekly meetings continue to be varied but usually lively; the older Guides have organised a fashion show and Ready Steady Cook evening as part of their Baden Powell Award; the younger ones have made sashes and a special thank you to Billie Pursglove who sewed several up with her new sewing machine.

We were very sad to lose Clare Bright who has moved to London. Clare joined the unit at a time when we were desperate for leaders over 18 and in fact helped to keep the unit open. We wish her well with her new job and look forward to her joining us in Iceland.

The Allotment Slot

As people become more aware of what they eat and their desire for fresh locally grown food, the interest in renting one of approximately 50 allotments in the village is increasing, WRITES SANDRA HARROP. In the 'Allotment Slot' we hope to interview a different local allotment holder each month, ask them about their plot and to pass on any tips or advice. In this first interview, a long standing Youlgrave allotment holder talks about his Coldwell End plot.

How long have you had your allotment?
Nearly 35 years.

What do you grow every year? Cabbage, peas, leeks, runner and broad beans, brussels sprouts, parsnips, early potatoes and onions.

How many hours do you spend on your allotment? At least one hour a day.

What will be on your table this Sunday dinner time that you have grown? Cabbage, leeks, runner beans, broad beans, parsnips.

Is there anything you wouldn't grow again and why? Cauliflower - I never get them big enough before they turn to seed. I get a lot of carrot fly so I don't grow carrots.

What's the easiest and hardest things to grow? I always grow Hurst Green Shaft peas, Scarlet Emperor runner beans and Bunyards Exhibition broad beans. Leeks are easy to grow as they have no enemies. Anything is hard to grow if the weather is against you, especially if it's frosty. One year my runner beans were frozen on the 6th of June!

Have you had any disasters? Mainly weather made disasters. This year I had plenty of flowers on my runner beans but because it was continually wet, there weren't as many bees around to pollinate them and therefore I've only had a small crop.

What is the best advice anyone gave you? Put compost on top of your root crops, not under the row where the worms will attract moles. If you put it on the top of the row the birds eat the worms. Rotate all root crops every year but don't rotate onions – if you get a good patch for your onions stick with it.

What's the best tip you would give someone starting an allotment? Keep at it! It's an all year round job. Dig your grass back in, but not weeds, as the grass puts goodness back into the soil. Store your onions in a wooden shed, condensation forms in zinc roofed sheds.

What changes have you seen over the years? In the early years about 99% of the land at the top allotments was fully dug. Now only about 25% of the ground is dug. There used to be lots of people working on their allotments in the evenings, now there are only a few people about.

What are the ups and downs of having an allotment? The ups are plenty – the food is fresh and safe, you know it's from all your hard work. An allotment keeps you active; you're in the fresh air, seeing friends and fellow allotment holders. The downside is that it is nearly a 365 days a year job, you can't walk away from it and leave it until spring; there's always a job that needs doing.

Have you any funny stories of life on the allotments? There are lots of stories I could tell but had better not.

What do you do if you have too much of a particular fruit or veg? I've got three grown up children who have families. Or freeze it.

What three essentials are there for a good allotment? Good neighbouring allotments who don't let the weeds grow. Good soil. Good weather.

Who is your favourite TV gardener? Carol Klein now, I always watched Geoff Hamilton.

What are you doing now in your allotment? Putting the spring cabbage out.

If you have an allotment related question or would like to talk about your allotment please contact the Editor.

UPDATE ON YOULGRAVE JOURNEY SHARE

Firstly, a thank you to all those who are helping to get this project off to a good start. We now have notices of journeys to share on boards from Middleton to Alport. We have a mixture of regular and individual journeys so far. We need you all to spend a minute, to look ahead to where you will be travelling during the next month, if it's possible to accommodate a passenger, and to let us know your details by phoning 630202 or 636570; or by email judithorchard@aol.com.

We need those of you who do regular journeys to and from work to register your routes with us as we believe these are probably of the most benefit, but all journeys will be helpful. The more people who are involved, the more the opportunities there are for this scheme to work to everyone's benefit. Full details are in the September Bugle, but basically it's this: drivers let us know details of their journeys. The minimum details are posted around the area for passengers who are interested to get in touch with us by phone or email. Details are then finalised. We act as the third party, so personal details are not divulged, and everyone has the opportunity to refuse or accept.

The donations of the great raffle prizes from Derbyshire Aggregates, Grouse & Claret, Haddon Hall, Gulliver's Kingdom, Morrisons and Waitrose of Buxton, Holmehall Co-op, Wilkos, Youlgrave Bowls Club, Forest Nurseries, family and friends and neighbours. How to go 'green' when choosing a new car

Sustainable Youlgrave's JOHN YOUATT offers some tips.

Prompted by last month's article on car sharing, here's an approach to choosing a car.

It's unlikely that fuel costs will fall in the foreseeable future, if ever. The market for large bodied, low mpg/high carbon emission cars has declined a lot recently. This is partly because of the cost of fuel, partly because of the changes to VED – your tax disc; and partly because of the economy at large.

I've been looking for a replacement first car (for bigger loads and longer journeys) for some months. At the same time, I've wondered whether Jean and I can justify a second car (for short journeys) - or share use or ownership with others, as the article suggested.

John Youatt in his new Ford Fusion.

For a first car

I concluded that a reasonable compromise is a 'band B' car. These are small to mid sized cars that emit less than 120 grams CO₂ and no particulates; and achieve around 60 mpg. There are over 70 models listed on the VCA* website. Five of these (at least) are remarkable:

- for capacity, the Ford Focus Estate tdc1 1.6;
- for quality and power, the Golf 'blue motion' 1.9 tdi;
- for easy loading (low cill/high headroom) yet smaller, the Ford Fusion tdc1 1.6 and up market, a BMW 1 series e8 or a Merc A class..

Your tax disc will cost £35. Do we really need look anywhere else?

*<http://www.vcacarfueldata.org.uk/search/vedSearchResults.asp?Band=B&Price=35&fuel=3&co2=101-120>

For a second family or shared car

There's a growing number of all-electric vehicles with 4 seats and enough range for local trips. I'm not in a position to recommend any, but you can look for yourself on websites such as www.nicecarcompany.co.uk. All-electric is zero carbon if charged with green electricity; and of course there's low running costs.

The key to success is the best batteries – lithium-ion. I'm going to find out more.

Or if you want to see the real future, hydrogen from wind, go to -

These candles will be used in All Saints Church again this year. The list of candle names will be on the church table at the beginning of November. If you have already requested candles in the past, you will automatically have a candle name printed for you again. Please delete your name from the list in church if you don't want the candle anymore. Add new names to the list, AS SOON AS POSSIBLE, PLEASE. It makes life very difficult when candles are requested at the last minute! Candles cost 50p each. This year, as an experiment, please put your money in specially printed envelopes, which will be in church, and at Parkers and Hollands. Then give your envelope to Lisa Walshaw (636298) Barbara Scrivener, one of the Churchwardens or leave it at Hollands or Parkers.

BEWARE NEW SCAM

Trading Standards offices are making people aware of the following scam – be on your guard.

A card is posted through your door from a company called PDS (Parcel Delivery Service) suggesting that they were unable to deliver a parcel and that you need to contact them on 0906 6611911 (a premium rate number). DO NOT call this number, as this is a mail scam originating from Belize.

If you call the number and you start to hear a recorded message you will already have been billed £15 for the phone call.

If you do receive a card with these details, then please contact Royal Mail Fraud on 0207 239 6655 or ICSTIS (the premium rate service regulator) at www.icstis.org.uk

Thank you to Roger Easton at Youlgrave Post Office for supplying this information.
