New conductor for Silver Band

A new conductor has been appointed to lead Youlgrave's historic silver band, known affectionately as 'Pommie Band', following the decision of John Roper to stand down after ten years at the helm.

At its recent Annual General Meeting it was agreed that Graham Robinson of Buxton would take over, but John Roper, who has conducted the Band for the last 10 years and was a player for many years before that, will resume as a horn player. He was warmly thanked for his excellent service. Graham Robinson said: "I look forward to conducting this popular local band, which has entertained the public for over a hundred years and has provided valuable training for many young musicians. More players are urgently needed to secure the Band's future, however." He reminded villagers that the band does not enter contests, but plays for pleasure. "Our aim is to have enjoyable rehearsals and to give concerts which appeal to the audience. We would like to thank Derbyshire Dales District Council once again for sponsoring our outdoor Summer concerts."

Youlgrave Silver Band practices at 8pm every Thursday in its comfortable Band Room in the top Chapel, Youlgrave. New players, especially cornets, will be made very welcome.

Bugle letters: wildlife gardens, swimming pools, roads

Dear Sir,
I have recently written to the Parish Council putting forward a proposal for a Community Wildlife Garden to be developed on part of my land on Bankside, and wondered whether anyone else in Youlgrave has any comments, suggestions or ideas about the best way to proceed.

For some time, I have been considering the idea which originally I had thought of developing in conjunction with Derbyshire Wildlife Trust. However, the Trust has recently decided not to take on any small pieces of land, so I need to reconsider. The land itself would become the property of the village, either in the immediate future or on my death. As I recently won an Earthwatch Award there is already the sum of £250 towards developing the proposal. This sum although small, would help in terms of raising further finance.

As many of you know, there is a derelict 18th-century fishing lodge on the land which the Peak National Park have looked at and would be prepared to contribute towards the cost of restoration. There are also other possibilities of funding, both for the building and developing the wildlife garden. The building itself has a bay window overlooking the dale and would make an ideal bird hide, or simply just a lovely place to sit. I would envisage clearing some of the rough scrub and saplings and planting appropriate native trees.

I welcome feedback on this proposal, and together with the parish council I hope we can take this idea forward.

Dear Sir,
I am writing to alert other parents about a restrictive policy operating at Bakewell Swimming Pool.

Recently I found out to my cost that one adult can only take two children into the water. This wasn't made clear at reception, who let my two children plus one other go in with one adult. There was only one small notice explaining the policy that I didn't see. A few minutes later we were asked to leave the pool as they realised the situation. I think this is unfair, and that the policy should be more fairly explained.

Dear Sir,
So, congestion charges are being considered for Youlgrave (Bugle, April)?

At last the parish council has seen sense! But why stop there? Outside traffic could be banned altogether at weekends and Bank Holidays, with only residents displaying local parking permits allowed in and out. Tractors, buses, delivery vehicles, bicycles, etc, would of course be exempt. Just think how peaceful it could be! Visitors could park at a location outside the village and either walk or get the bus into the centre – park and ride, in other words.

And while we're at it, has anyone else been struck by the fact that the appalling state of the roads in Youlgrave might be a deliberate ploy by Derbyshire County Council to slow the traffic down? Just a thought...

Youlgrave School welcomes London penpals

First of all, Rowan tells us all about the swimming Gala:

On Friday 27 March Years 5 and 6 went to the Swimming Gala to represent Youlgrave School. We did not win because we were against stronger schools. I liked it because the races were fun, like Flexifloat, Push Ball and the Pyjama Race. I was in Float and the Flexifloat Relay. One of the people in my team was Oliver.

Rowan Parker (age 10)

Every year in February Years 5 and 6 receive letters from the children of Dollis School, Mill Hill, London, and they write back. Oliver Middleton tells us about the visit of Dollis School to Youlgrave.

On Wednesday 2 April our pen pals visited us. When they arrived we read some information about Youlgrave, trips and the Peak Park. We then talked to our pen pals and played outside. Lastly we did some maypole dancing with them and had a quiz. I enjoyed talking to them and I hope my pen pal writes to me soon.

Mary-ann writes: My pen pal was called Stevie, (her real name is Stephanie). She is 10 but I am still older than her, but only by one month and one day.

Hannah says: I had two pen pals, but only one came. She was Frances, because Wing Hei had chicken pox. Emma's pen pal Lanan came. Dollis were staying in the Youth Hostel.

Rowan and Edward tell us: When Dollis arrived we read information to them about the local area and then talked about living in a small village. Catherine and Giselle add: Then we had a drink and Bakewell pudding.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the maypole dancing. This was Mary-ann's favourite part of the morning: The Dollis children started fine but got in a bit of a tangle at the end, while Hannah and Emma admit, we went wrong nearly every time. The boys add that they also had a game of football.

Thank you to all the children of Year 5 for sharing their work with us. A good time was obviously had by all and next month we shall hear the London children's impression of Youlgrave.

Pommie briefs

Beware drive-laying scam

Police are warning local people to be on their guard after two recent incidents in Bakewell involving a gang of men laying tarmac drives. In both cases, elderly residents agreed to have their drives surfaced for a sum of money, but half way through the job the men carrying out the work demanded a large amount of cash (not the agreed sum), and under a threat to rip up the new tarmac the individuals were taken to the bank and cash withdrawn. It appears that these 'tarmacers' are deliberately targeting elderly peoples' addresses. The police are urging anyone to contact them immediately if these people call.

'Promoting Pommie'

A recent meeting of Youlgrave shopkeepers and local businesses discussed measures to encourage more spending in the village. Marked bays and notices outside the shops were suggested as one way of allowing shoppers to park near the facilities, while John Fredericks announced the launch of Thimble Hall organic ice cream. People claiming benefits were urged to have them paid via Youlgrave Post Office, and measures to reduce car parking around Fountain Square were also discussed. The initiative has come about as a result of the recent Parish Plan meeting.

Road surface "disgraceful"

As complaints continue about the state of the road surface through Youlgrave, it has emerged that full resurfacing may not take place until 2005!

Youlgrave Parish Council recently contacted Derbyshire County Council to complain about the numerous bumps and holes in the local roads, but were told by an official from Derbyshire County Council's Environmental Services that Youlgrave was only "on the list for consideration" this year or possibly next, after further assessment this autumn. Otherwise we might have to wait until at least 2005 for any proper resurfacing to be carried out.

The County Council claim that some of the more severe holes have now been filled in, at least temporarily, but the overall condition of the roads remains poor. Villagers have described the state of Youlgrave's roads as "disgraceful", and in a recent letter in the Bugle an angry resident complained that her car's wheels needed tracking almost every month.

Village Hall news

'DOT.COM'

It seems an industry has recently been set up to benefit the Village Hall. Its name is Dot.Com!

The Attic sale in early April raised a magnificent £400 for the Village Hall. Many thanks to all contributors and helpers on the day. This success prompted one Dorothy (patient husband in tow) to scour the warehouses for curtain fabric. This done, she enlisted the help of two more Dorothys for cutting and stitching duties.

Soon we are hoping to see the fruits of their labours, and new curtains in the building. Thank you Dorothy, Dorothy and Dorothy!

Welldressing and Village Market

Middleton's new Village Hall and Entertainments Committee is set for its greatest test yet, the annual Village Market. After its successes at the Christmas Party and Bateman Arms Night, the team, lead by Robert Wigley, hopes that this event, the most important in Middleton's calendar, will also be a triumph.

The market, which marks the start of Welldressing week, is a fantastic family day out, with stalls to interest everyone including favourites like home-made cakes and bric-a-brac. Come along to see what bargains are on offer!

The Welldressing itself sees a new beginning this year, as Diane Kettle has agreed to find time in her very busy schedule to design the well and lead the team. Although Diane has been greatly encouraged by the number of villagers at the two planning meetings, she also hopes that some new faces will appear around the boards in the playground shed as the petalling is completed, week commencing Monday 19 May.

The work will begin on Saturday 10 May at 2pm, when the boards will be taken to the sheepwash in the dale for soaking. They will be brought back for claying on Saturday 17 May at 2pm. On each of these occasions a team will meet in the playground – extra hands are needed so young and old helpers will be very welcome.

As well as encouraging new adult welldressers to work on the main boards, the team would like to invite the children of the village to come along to learn the craft. Supervision will be available from 3.30pm each day, beginning Monday 19 May.

If you'd like to help, or just have a look, please just come along, or phone Diane (tel. 636763). And don't forget to come and have a great day out with us at the Village Market on Saturday 24 May!

Welcome to Granby House: a caring home with support and security

Most of you will be aware of Granby House – that high, rather handsome building on Alport Lane opposite the Medical Centre. But do you actually know who manages it, what it's like inside, and most importantly of all, who it's designed for?

Granby House is run by the Youlgrave and District branch of Abbeyfield. Founded in 1956, Abbeyfield provides quality housing across Britain, offering support for older people from all walks of life, regardless of income. There are more than 550 Abbeyfield societies, sited in never feel lonely or isolated.

A caring housekeeper provides two meals a day and generally keeps an eye on everyone. Although Granby House is not a nursing home, all rooms are connected to the alarm system so help can be summoned both night and day.

Residents do not pay for a TV licence, and a reduced Council Tax is included in the charges. Since Abbeyfield is a non-profit making organisation charges are very reasonable, and financial help towards costs may also be available through social services.

Granby House has eight comfortable rooms, and each resident has their own furniture, private toilet and washing facilities. Residents live as independently as they wish and have their own front door keys. A lift serves the two floors, and all doorways are wide enough for the easy movement of walking frames. Main meals are served in the attractive dining room and residents can enjoy uninterrupted views over glorious countryside from the comfortably furnished conservatory.

Rosemary Trapp, Chairman of Granby House, says that it really is a friendly place. "I would especially like to mention our wonderful volunteers who get involved in a host of things including gardening, organising social events and standing in for members of staff if needed. Ultimately, the aim of us all – staff, volunteers and committee alike – is to make Granby House as pleasant, secure and comfortable a place to live as possible."

To find out more about Granby House, or to arrange a visit, contact the Housekeeper on 636061, or write to Rosemary Trapp at Granby House, Alport Road, Youlgrave DE45 1WN.

A royal opening – Granby House receives two very special small towns and villages as well as in cities and suburbs, and each society is an independent, non-profit making organisation, with local responsibility for management.

Granby House offers what Abbeyfield classes as 'very sheltered' accommodation for anyone of pensionable age who no longer feels able to cope, or does not wish to live alone at home. The security and peace of mind of being with people means that Granby House residents

Village hall cinema a huge success

The queue for the best seats starts to form.

Big screen films returned to Youlgrave Village Hall last month as the newly re-launched Youlgrave Cinema held its first screening.

Over 100 people attended the evening's entertainment, which began with a short but rousing performance by Youlgrave Silver Band, led by new conductor Graham Robinson. The first of the two films was a rare black and white movie shot around Middleton and Youlgrave in 1937. Amid much laughter and exclamation, older members of the audience found that they could even identify a few of the faces on the film – despite a gap of 66 years!

The main feature was the British comedy 'Brassed Off', after which the audience joined the committee for a complimentary glass of wine and lively conversation well into the evening.

Reaction from the cinema-goers on the evening and from the questionnaires circulated beforehand was very encouraging. A large number of people said that they would support a return of the village cinema, and that they rarely went these days because of the length and difficulty of the journey (to Chesterfield), and the limited programme choices. Asked to nominate their favourite films, there was a predictably wide selection – from art house and foreign language to westerns, musicals and nostalgia.

This positive sentiment was also echoed by the significant number of people who attended the evening from outside Youlgrave. Among the audience were people from Bakewell, Rowsley, Darley Dale and Matlock.

Youlgrave Cinema is now looking to apply for funding to purchase projection equipment and renovate the projection box in the village hall. If the application is successful the first full season of films could begin as early as this autumn. So make sure to watch this space!

Youlgrave Band gets the growing audience in the mood.

Tales from the tap room

High spirits

Thimble Hall has been a focus of interest in recent months, and the most frequently asked question is Who last lived there and when? Nobody, so far as I know, has ventured an authentic answer, so here is my offering.

Nobody has actually lived there since the early 1930's. It was a den for the MacLagans in the early part of World War II, and Ellis Bowering cobbled there for a while after demob, but the last live-in occupants, I would say, were Charlie Slaney and his sister Jane Goodwin.

"Never heard of them," even the most accredited Youlgravian will now be saying, so how about Charlie and Jinnie Frisky? Ah, yes, that does ring a bell.

Charlie and Jinnie were village characters. Today's society would dismiss them as alcoholics, but that makes no allowance for the times they lived in. The term expectation of life was yet to be conceived and you got little you didn't get for yourself. Sleep for some men, either natural or drink-aided, came just as easily in a hedge-bottom as a bed. I say 'men' deliberately; women were not yet ready to trade off their entitlement to respect for the dubious advantage of equality.

So the schoolboys who found Jinnie prone in the churchyard, one afternoon, jumped to the kindest conclusion. Two of them, now still living down Bradford with life's experience largely behind them, would not again make the mistake of running for a glass of water for the lady who had fainted. We live and learn, as they say. At least they now know the meaning of the word emetic, in the administration of which small boys who have just helped old ladies to their feet are well-advised to stand clear.

All I remember of Charlie comes from the mind of a three-year-old who, fascinated, stood nodding in sympathetic rhythm to the strange old man sitting on a bench outside the George Hotel. I think it must have been he, although anything less frisky would be hard to imagine. So why the nickname? By all accounts, Charlie had worked for a time as a farm labourer at Meadow Place where he was sent by the farmer to count the spring lambs. "Did you count them all?" asked the farmer when

Charlie came back with a total. "Yes, I counted 'em all," affirmed Charlie, "all except for one frisky little b*r who wouldn't stand still."

That's all it took. Both Charlie and Jinnie were Frisky for the rest of their lives.

Growing confidence

It was while Les Birds was working on Sam Evans's new houses below the churchyard, now known as Mount Pleasant View, that he came to exchange a few pleasantries with my mother.

"And how's that lad o' yours getting on?" he enquired.

"Well, he's doing well enough at school," she told him, "but he doesn't seem to grow much."

"Ee, tha' munna worry," he urged her. "Ah never grew an inch 'til ah were sixteen, then ah shot up like a willah."

Mother must have found that very reassuring. Little Les was all of 5 feet 2 inches tall.

New works on show at Kettle's Backyard

Local artist Diane Kettle (pictured in her studio, right) will be exhibiting some of her new works during Middleton's forthcoming Well Dressing celebrations.

Her studio, known as Kettle's Backyard, will be open throughout the weekend, and visitors will be able to enjoy her range of life drawings and water colours, many of the latter depicting local landscapes such as Middleton and Bradford Dales.

Diane also continues her busy teaching programme, and in particular her popular outdoor landscape classes, which take place during the day at locations around Middleton and Youlgrave throughout the summer. Everyone is welcome – from beginners upwards – and she also holds classes on Wednesday and Monday evenings.

To find out more visit her studio on The Square in Middleton during Well Dressing or over most weekends, or call 636763.

Broadband and computing help for local groups

Further to the article in last month's Bugle on Broadband, a circular from the Derbyshire Dales Council for Voluntary Service, based in Bakewell, sheds a little more light on the subject locally.

Since rural areas lag behind urban areas when it comes to converting telephone exchanges, BT has so far introduced Broadband to Buxton and Matlock, and Bakewell and Wirksworth are both seeking it. Apparently BT needs to be petitioned before by prospective users, so Bakewell and Wirksworth have both organised campaigns to get connected. To find out more go to:

Peak District Community Computing

This rather broader idea aims to support local community and voluntary groups, initially regarding information technology, and in the same way that businesses and learners are already supported. For instance, spreading the message about Broadband, or finding out groups' training needs, as well as basic technical support.

Walter Knowles to be celebrated at Welldressing

Next month's Youlgrave Welldressing will be even more special than usual, as a retrospective exhibition of paintings by Walter Knowles will take place at the top chapel.

Walter Knowles was a prolific and gifted artist, and the exhibition will include some pictures for sale, including a few that were in Walter's own studio when he died last year.

The organisers are hoping that many people in the village and beyond will be prepared to lend pictures that they have bought or been given. They want to have a representative show of pictures painted over many years and in different media, and see the occasion as a celebration of Walter's talent and enthusiasm.

If you can lend a picture or pictures for the exhibition please contact the people listed below. Or if you have distant friends or relations who have pictures of Walter's could you encourage them to return the pictures to the village for the welldressing weekend, so that they can hang alongside pictures that have remained here? The exhibition will be closely supervised and great care will be taken to look after every picture.

Auf Wiedershen, Pet?

Dear Sir,
I'm currently involved in a project, launched by an online group of fans of the TV programme 'Auf Wiedershen, Pet', to compile an accurate guide to the filming locations for the first two series.

In an episode from the second series (filmed in 1985), there is a scene where two of the main characters go poaching for trout in a local stream. From information received from other fans, it would appear that this scene was filmed in the area around Youlgrave.

I know that we're talking about things from nearly 20 years ago, but do any of your readers know where this is, or have you even heard that filming for the series was done in this area? Any information would be helpful.

The area where filming took place was surrounded by hills, and had a small one-track country road with a bend going in and out. It is near a stone wall with a built-in opening for a pathway, and about 100 yards from a stream/small river (the Bradford?). There's also some buildings visible just over the hill as they drive off, so it's not in the middle of nowhere. I'm sorry that I can't send you a screen-grab from the DVD of this at the moment as I'm still working on that.

Can you help me? Many thanks.

Youlgrave WI 'rallies strength' for Welldressing teas

A very interesting 'open' meeting of the WI took place on 8 April in the Village Hall. Jennifer welcomed visitors and members and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

All who had attended the Spring Group Meeting at Over Haddon enjoyed the evening and the excellent fare. The Autumn Group Meeting is to be held in October at Great Longstone and the speaker will be Patrick Harding on 'Christmas Unwrapped'. We look forward to another good 'get together'.

Jennifer has been busy cleaning the WI cupboard and taking stock of our belongings, and in order to keep things such as tablecloths, tea towels, vases, etc, tidy, she has purchased storage boxes – what a difference they make!

There were several items of correspondence, one of which was a letter of thanks from DFWI for the gift we sent towards their kitchen refurbishment. Before we meet next month there is a walk and lunch at Over Haddon, and the trip to the Bass Museum at Burton; we shall hear all about these at our May meeting.

Nancy Hawsworth came along and we all enjoyed her cookery demonstration and talk with tips. Nancy made up five different recipes from pate, brown/green salad, crowdie, granary bars and fruit choux ring, and joy of joys we all got to taste the goodies! A good evening – thanks to the organiser and to Nancy. I personally have already tried some of the recipes with excellent results.

In May we have our Resolution Meeting when we look forward to Stanton WI joining us, and we are making puddings for refreshments. In June we visit Cromford Garden Centre, and of course later in the month it will be Well Dressing Teas to be catered for. Please rally all your strength and come along and help.
