Church roof appeal launched

A 'Roof Repair Fund' is being launched this month to help raise £100,000 for a new roof for Youlgrave Church.

Standing at the very heart of Youlgrave, the magnificent building of All Saints dates back to the 1150s, and has served our community for almost 1,000 years. Like so many of our historic buildings, however, we have seen the cost of maintenance and repairs escalate in recent years, and now we are faced with one of the greatest challenges – the need to replace the entire roof.

Most of us have close links with All Saints: marriage, baptism, confirmation, and funerals of loved ones, and we mark the seasons at important religious festivals like Christmas, Lent, Easter and Harvest. As such, All Saints is so much more than just an imposing historic building: it is very much an integral and much-loved part of our community.

A special Fundraising Committee has been set up to oversee a programme of activities over the next two years. If we are to succeed in raising such a substantial sum of money, however, we need your help too, be it as a member of the Fundraising Group, a volunteer or by way of a donation to the Roof Repair Fund.

The Fund includes a 'buy a tile' campaign, inviting you to sponsor a 'tile' for as little as £1, so look out for donation boxes in the shops in the coming weeks. There will also be a display up in the Church, illustrating our progress!

We are also looking for enthusiastic jam and pickle makers and clean jars. The jars can be dropped off and collected from Hollands Butchers, where you can also register as a jam/pickle donator, and we will be happy to supply any produce necessary for your jam and pickle making. Cakes, buns etc, would also be very welcome, as we hope to have a stall in the Church during Well Dressing Week and at services throughout the summer.

We will also be staging various events over the coming two years, including a hog roast on the Bank Holiday weekend of Saturday 28 August.

If you have any ideas, or would like to help us to money for the Roof Repair Fund, please contact Eleanor Bane (636871) or pick up a leaflet at Hollands' Butchers. All Saints is your Church; help us ensure she remains at the heart of our community for another 1,000 years.

Bugle letters: turning hair white overnight; alien plants in the Dale;

Dear Editor

I wonder whether you would be kind enough to pass on a message to your correspondent 'Groucho' for me?

He (or she) asserts that rapid change in hair colour as a consequence of a sudden fright, is a myth.

The story goes that the hair colour of Marie Antoinette, during her journey from Versailles to Paris prior to her execution, altered to white.

The explanation for this, of course, is that, in somebody who is tending to grey, the older hairs are of course the darker hairs and the most recently grown ones are white. When a significant emotional upset occurs, the oldest hairs tend to fall out (that is, the darker ones), giving the impression that the overall head of hair becomes rapidly whiter.

I think you will agree that Marie Antoinette's trip was pretty distressing, and in the end, she lost her white hair as well!

Dr David Pickworth
Youlgrave

Dear Editor,

I noticed down the Dale that there have appeared some hyacinths, crocuses and yet more daffs.

I know that in time past the Parish Council bought a few daffs with proceeds from the Best Kept Village Competition; but I feel in these more conscious times such plantings are undesirable. They're too brash and loud and detract from the delicate colouring of the violets, orchids, cowslips and speedwell that will blossom soon. I know the planters are well meaning, but it's wrong to assume that everyone will appreciate your efforts.

Anne Croasdell (in a personal capacity)
Youlgrave

Dear Editor,

Re the letters in last month's Bugle.

I feel compelled to write again as I have been asked as to whose doors I have been knocking on expressing my views by several people – the answer is none. Please, Ms Galea, word your letters, more carefully.

Just a few points:

I was not wrong in the assumption that the original letter-writer was not from the village.

Farmers raising pheasants here are as rare as a pheasant with road sense.

Foxes kill all the hens in the run through instinct not to silence them, but because they have found a glut of food and if not discovered, intend returning to bury the rest for later use.

The points that "we might as well go back to shooting people" and "being honest about their psychopathic tendencies and killing each other" surely cannot be taken seriously?

Pheasants were imported into this country as a food source and that they still are. They are hand-reared so as not to take unsupplied stock from the wild. They are not purposely bred to be shot. The shooting season is short and for the rest of the time the birds are left alone.

Regarding housing, I too am extremely concerned that we have so many holiday cottages and empty or rarely used houses. Unfortunately these houses are usually at the 'cheaper' end of the market. Something must be done before the village loses its next generation and soul.

foxes and pheasants; learning the lessons of foot and mouth?

Dear Editor,

It is only three years since the foot-and-mouth crisis, and yet already self-appointed true-born countryfolk like Eric Goodwin, Gill Carter and Dee Frith are airing their negative attitudes in relation to visitors, tourists and incomers (Bugle, March).

Obviously no lessons have been learned from three years ago, and these supposedly-non-urban people think that Youlgrave's shops, pubs, farms and other local businesses can manage quite nicely on financial input from residents alone.

As a regular visitor to Youlgrave, I prefer to assign such attitudes to a deluded, die-hard minority, whose partial-sightedness causes them, for example, to notice loose dogs in Bradford Dale which are owned by visitors, but not to notice - as I did on a recent visit - those which are owned by residents.

Man/woman power required for Welldressing – again!

With the arrival of Spring, here is a quick update on preparations for this year's Youlgrave Welldressing.

We have £1,000 to give away! Your suggestions for causes of a local nature to the committee, or via the Bugle.

Training the welldressers of the future is ongoing with practice boards at each well, and hopefully the Playgroup and the Guides will be making their own welldressings.

We have a building, thanks to Simon Frost, so all our equipment can now be kept weatherproof and together. So we're now more organised, but we're still counting on all our able-bodied lifters and 'tractor men'. (Are there any 'tractor women' out there, I wonder? Just a thought – Ed).

A formal road closure order is now required for the procession and we must supervise it ourselves. We need three marshals who will be paid £15 to direct traffic at the closure points between 2pm and 4.30pm on Saturday 19 June. If you are interested, and over 18, please get in touch.

A marching policeman leads last year's Welldressing parade.

We appreciate everyone's patience and support

Dates for your diary:

Thurs 27 May: 6.30pm: boards in the river

Mon 14 June: 6.30pm: puddling by the river at Meadow Cottage Tea Garden

Sat 19 June: welldressings up and procession (2pm).

For more information, or if you would like to help in any way, please contact Peter Pimm on 636341.

Road to be resurfaced?

Derbyshire County Council has indicated that outline proposals to ease the parking congestion and improve pedestrian safety in Youlgrave will almost certainly involve the resurfacing of the main street through the village. There are indications that this may take place at the end of this year, possibly in November. Watch this space!

Allotment rents increased

At their meeting last month, Youlgrave Parish Council voted to increase the yearly rent on their allotments to £12 per plot for 2004/5.

Fund raising 'thank you'

Youlgrave School Association raised over £240 at their quiz evening on 2 April in the Village Hall. Organisers would like to thank everyone who took part.

Made of Clay success

'Made of Clay', the film about the people of Youlgrave and their welldressings, is to be shown at the Community Media Association Festival at the Showroom Cinema in Sheffield on Saturday 15 May. The Showroom screenings are intended to present a variety of the best material submitted to them for their archive of community-based film/video productions.

The film's Youlgrave-based director, Maggie Ford, says she is delighted, particularly as it celebrates the lives and skills of Youlgrave people who are sadly no longer with us – including Jim Shimwell, Bill Shimwell, Fred Billinge, Minnie Webster, Ivy Evans and Harry Goodwin.

The Showroom screenings will be open to the public and free of charge. For further details call the box office on 0114 275 7727, or go to www.showroom.org.uk

A Wee Dram in Pommie!

The Wee Dram, the Bakewell Whisky shop owned by Youlgrave couple Alison and Adrian Murray, is hosting a Whisky Tasting evening in conjunction with the Farmyard Inn on Thursday 27 May. The evening will include six single malt whiskies, and a light buffet. Adrian told the Bugle: "We have always wanted to do a tasting in the village, so when Sean asked us we were very pleased. At these evenings we like to promote how much enjoyment there is in sharing a really good Dram with one's friends, so doing a tasting just across the road is quite fitting." As well as being good fun, the evening will be educational, as Adrian will talk you through the whiskies, explaining the differences, as each will be from one single distillery with its own distinctive style and flavour. Tickets are available from the Farmyard Inn, or The Wee Dram, price £20.

Vandalism at Church

Police have interviewed local youths over acts of vandalism at All Saints Church, including desecration of flowers placed on several graves. The individuals in question, who regrettably cannot be named for legal reasons, live in Youlgrave.

Bugle's books approved

As usual at this time of year, we would like to report that the Bugle's accounts were examined by Roger Easton of Youlgrave Post Office and found to be in good order. Thanks once more to Roger for this service.

Local Well Dressing dates

Don't forget that Middleton by Youlgrave Well Dressing starts on Saturday 29 May with the annual Village Market – see page 11 for more details. Youlgrave's Well Dressing Parade is on Saturday 19 June.

Youlgrave Parish Council: Chairman's Annual Report

Affordable Housing still looms large as an issue that remains unsolved. Recent requests for land to build on, voiced in the Bugle, have to date, yielded no response. Landowners have been approached but none is willing to negotiate.

We are in receipt of plans for new road markings the length of the main street through the village. The object of the plans is to make easier a pedestrian route and also to maintain a reasonable flow and free passage of farm, emergency and public transport vehicles. After public consultation and possible amendment, these will be returned to County for speedy implementation

There has been no further progress to date on the Quiet Lanes Project. There have been some problems with signage. (Some falling over, others disappearing!) But I am hopeful that proposals for phase two will appear shortly.

New railings for Church Corner will be put in place shortly, and should be a great improvement on the utilitarian ones currently on site.

The Playing Field sub-committee has worked hard with risk assessment audits and the setting of contracts for maintenance of the playing field and the facilities. Members of the community are working hard towards the re-establishment of a cricket team.

The three-day Music Fest was very successful. Improved policing will hopefully deter any troublemakers at the 2004 event.

As usual we have received many plans from people seeking approval for extensions to their houses and farm buildings. Two plans however will have more significant impact on village residents. First was one from the school proposing significant changes to the inside of school, providing a reception, library/IT room, staff room and Head Teacher's room separate from the office. Secondly, we approved plans from John Frederick's to extend and refurbish Thimble Hall. We will view the launch of his new product Thimble Hall Organic Ice Cream with great interest.

At last a streetlight has been fitted at the top of Holywell Lane and we can see our way to the Village Hall!

Finally, we gave many thanks to Ingrid Newman, our parish clerk, for her seven years of service and hard work for the Council. We welcome our new clerk Veronica Kemble.

Thank you to all councillors.

Anne Croasdell, Chairman

Bringing Broadband to Youlgrave

As reported in last month's Bugle, BT has lowered the so-called trigger level for the Youlgrave Exchange to 200. This means that just 200 people in the Youlgrave area have to register an 'interest' in receiving ADSL Broadband for the exchange to be considered for upgrading. But registering an interest does NOT commit you to anything, nor will it cost you a penny.

So, if you use email or surf the internet from Youlgrave register your interest now! Go to:

www.bt.com/choosebroadband/

Select 'Register your interest', click on 'BT Broadband', then enter your name, telephone number and postcode with no commitment. You can also check registration levels for Youlgrave and elsewhere, and discover more about Broadband (see under FAQs) and how to run a local campaign.

Youlgrave Garage gets

The village garage expands its service, but Graham Elliott says

Following major investment in yet more hi-tech equipment, Youlgrave Garage is attempting to buck the trend of village garages closing by the hundreds every week, and at the same time hopefully secure our future and the service we provide to you – the customer.

We have recently been approved by the Department of Transport and are now able to carry out MOT testing whilst you wait. A safe area has been set aside where if you wish you can watch your car being tested.

We can also offer Chauffeured transport for your wedding or any special occasion. Cars include Bentley Turbo R Limo and Mercedes E Class Executive saloons. Various classics are also available by request. Please note, however, that we not be operating a general taxi service.

Many of our customers and visitors have asked why the Garage has been excluded from the list of amenities on the plaque in the churchyard? We don't know. Perhaps whichever group decided who would and would not be included publish the reasons for all to see.

USE THEM OR LOSE THEM!

On another note, I would like to express our regrets over Roses Newsagents closing down – another village shop gone forever. Once closed, rarely do village shops ever come back. I can remember Youlgrave once supporting 18 shops, three garages, a building society, a bank and three pubs – luckily all the pubs have survived.

Many will remember Jen and her mum (the original Roses Shop) who ran the business for 18 years. It was just as hard then, with the same old problems Tony has come across – and 13 hours a day was usual.

Working for yourself is hard work and not as easy as some think. For every hour front of house there is at least another one worked behind the scenes. It's been said before, but support those that are left (if you know they are there) or chance losing the rest.

NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH

The AGM of Bakewell District Neighbourhood Watch was held at the Agricultural Business Centre on 31 March 2004. It was well attended and the evening proved to be interesting.

After a talk by Carol Brister about her work with the Police Authority, Inspector Dean Wheeldon of Bakewell gave us some pleasing statistics regarding crime in our area and the role of Neighbourhood Watch in helping to combat it. It seems that Derbyshire is one of the safest parts of the country and Bakewell Section is the safest part of Derbyshire! Last year's crime figures for Bakewell Section are the lowest on record (excluding the foot and mouth disease period). The Section has highest detection rate in Derbyshire for both violent crime and vehicle crime. With the exception of burglary (which increased by only one) all categories of crime were reduced. All detected house burglaries came about as a result of information from members of Neighbourhood Watch and other vigilant members of the public.

Insurance figures show that houses in an active Neighbourhood Watch area have a 1 in 344 chance of being burgled compared with the national average of 1 in 34. If you have correct locks on doors and windows your chances drop to 1 in 1350.

If you want advice on home security you can obtain this directly from the police or through Neighbourhood Watch. If you want information about Neighbourhood Watch please contact Bridget Ardley on (01629) 636611.

We were also told about a new scheme called Data Link.

This is a free emergency medical information scheme. It makes essential information readily available to the Emergency Services should you or anyone in your family suffer an accident or sudden illness at home. If you would like to make use of this very useful scheme, please contact Bridget Ardley.

The evening concluded with a lively question and answer session and a raffle with some very good prizes!

Youlgrave WI pays tribute to Marjorie Shimwell

The April meeting opened with the singing of 'Jerusalem', followed by a minute's silence to give thanks for the life of Marjorie Shimwell. Marjorie was a faithful member before she suffered a stroke, but even after that she still continued, with the help of husband Bill, to make cakes for our special events.

Margaret Deeming, our president, then took us through the business. Arrangements were made for our visit to Over Haddon for the Cheese and Wine evening to discuss this year's resolutions. The walk in Monyash is scheduled for 21st May. The Spring Group meeting was held in Ashford in the Water and we were made very welcome by our hostesses with a very pleasant supper. The speaker, Kandy, entertained us with a talk and demonstration on Belly Dancing. Some of our members may be tempted to try it but I don't think that the majority will have a go. It was a very interesting evening and not what our westernised brains expected.

In May there will be no meeting in Youlgrave Village Hall as we join with Stanton in the Peak for the evening. We meet at Holywell for 6.30pm, as the Stanton meeting commences at 7pm.

ADVANCE NOTICE. In July, our talk is on Sudbury Museum of Childhood and to follow this up we hope to arrange a visit to Sudbury Hall on the 19 August, more details to follow. Joan Mallaband announced that bookings are coming in for Well Dressing Luncheons and Teas.

The Speaker for the evening was Christine Stanley who gave a very interesting talk and demonstration on Cookery. Christine demonstrated four recipes of quick and easy treats for the summer. There were tasters for all, with the result that there was an appreciable amount of the prepared supper left over! We all received a copy of the recipes and are able to try them at home ourselves. Thank you Christine.

Jokes of the month

A man locks himself out of his car. Seeing his predicament, a passer-by offers to help. He rubs his trouser leg up against the car door, and within a few seconds there is a click and the door opens.

“You've done it!” exclaims the man. “But tell me, where did you learn the secret?”

“There is no secret,” says the passer-by. “It was lucky for you that I was wearing my khaki trousers.”

A dog goes to the Job Centre to look for work. The woman behind the desk is delighted.

“A talking dog! I'll get you a job in no time.”

After a few calls she announces: “Great, I've got you a job at the circus. You start on Monday.”

“That's no good to me,” protests the dog. “I'm a plumber.”

POSTCARD FROM SPAIN

Thousands of Spaniards and visitors alike have been participating in the numerous processions to celebrate Holy Week or Semana Santa. Malaga is considered to be one of the most important centres of Spain for the celebration of this historic week.

Semana Santa involves the marching in procession of brotherhoods (cofridias) of the Church and penitents, followed by elaborate floats on which sit images of the Virgin or Christ.

For months beforehand, the bands practice their short flamenco style hymns about the Passion and the Virgin's sorrow throughout Fuengirola. The float, carried by in excess of 100 men, some blindfolded and barefooted, winds its way through the streets from the early afternoon onwards, returning to its resting place many hours later.

Good Friday is the climax, when the procession leaves the church at midnight and moves through the town for most of the night. On the Thursday, the older local women tend to wear black and it's considered disrespectful for tourists to wear t-shirts and shorts.

The people who wear the purple hats are called the Nazarenes or penitentes, but obviously have nothing to do with the Ku Klux Klan, despite their resemblance; their tunics are made of velvet and satin and they carry flickering candles, while some carry sceptres. Music is important in the procedure and band and bugles play marches and the procession stops at certain points for a solo religious song. All along the route of the procession, crowds chant 'Viva, Viva'.

Semana Santa in the south of Spain is becoming one of the biggest tourist attractions of the year, and for most people their first experience of this spectacular showing of religious fervour, but it's well worth a look at how different cultures celebrate what we call Easter.

Easter Eggs tend to take a back seat at this time of year in Spain.

Islay bound...

The Wee Dram, the Bakewell Whisky shop owned by Youlgrave couple Alison and Adrian Murray, has set off on a trip to the island of Islay in the Hebrides. The trip takes place every two years and visits six of Islay's seven working whisky distilleries, as well as the distillery on the neighbouring island of Jura. This year Adrian is taking 24 guests with him.

The trip offers a unique insight not only into the way whisky is produced on the island, but also into how whisky complements the culture and spirit of the island and the inhabitants. Whisky is very much a people's drink, particularly in the Hebrides. Islay whisky is bold and robust in character, yet warm and comforting. These are the same qualities found in the people of Islay. The group departed from Bakewell at six o'clock last Monday morning, in order to catch the six o'clock evening ferry from Kennecraig on the Mull of Kintyre. Let's hope the sea was calm!
