Youlgrave Cinema unveils third season

Youlgrave's popular village film club begins its third season with the screening of the Al Pacino thriller Insomnia (15) on Friday 7th October. It's set in Alaska and is a pacy and dramatic murder story which also and rather unusually features Robin Williams as the baddy.

The original Youlgrave Cinema closed its doors in the 1950s, but its modern reincarnation took shape in 2003 and was one of the first of the new wave of local film clubs that are springing up all over the Peak District. Thanks to generous funding from the Countryside Agency and Leader+ it boasts its own digital projection equipment, surround-sound audio equipment and special wide screen. The monthly film shows take place on Friday evenings at the Village Hall, and the entertainment includes a short film beforehand plus an intermission for ice creams, as well as post-film refreshments. It's an enjoyable social occasion appealing to a wide cross section of local people from Youlgrave and the surrounding area, and which last season attracted almost 120 members.

The five other films to be shown between now and next April are: O Brother Where Art Thou? (the Coen Brothers' musical comedy); Alfred Hitchcock's Strangers on a Train; East is East, an hilarious romp set in 1970s multicultural Britain; David Lynch's The Straight Story – a gentle roadmovie featuring one man and his lawnmower; and one of the all-time Italian classic's Cinema Paradiso.

To see the films you have to join as a full member or come along as a pre-booked guest of a member. Membership costs £24 for the season of six films, and if you would like an application form please contact Val Cornish at River View, Bankside, Youlgrave DE45 1WD or call 636420

Tackling anti-social behaviour

The Police have promised to raise their profile in Youlgrave, following a spate of anti-social behaviour in the village over the last few months. Parish Council Chairman Andrew McCloy met officers from Bakewell Police Station after several complaints about loutish behaviour and petty vandalism in Youlgrave. They included damage to the Holywell Lane telephone box and intimidating behaviour towards visitors in a pub car park. Several elderly residents have also been subjected to anonymous knocking on their windows late at night. The Police have already visited the village and spoken to one or two individuals, and they say that they will act firmly to stamp out this kind of anti-social behaviour. However, they need your help to find out what's going on and who's responsible. To report an incident call PCs Iain McGregor or Dave Rowbotham at the Neighbourhood Policing Team Office in Bakewell on 01629 762030; or if you actually see an offence being committed dial 999 and ask for the Police.

Dear Sir

I am looking for some information regarding the sale of a Clydesdale horse I have been told had been seen in your area. I bought 'Daniel' last year in a local sales in Cheshire, and have been since trying to trace his origins. I have been told by a local Clydesdale breeder that he was asked to see him in Youlgrave, Derbyshire. I was wondering if there was anyone in your area who may know anything about Danny or his past history? I have attached a picture in case anyone may remember him. Thanks for your help

INTERESTED IN CHESS?

The Reading Room Committee hopes to put on a few varied special events during the autumn and winter months, so do keep an eye open for them being advertised and come along.

We're also thinking of starting a Chess Club. Do you play? Would you like to learn? Are you short of worthy opponents? If the answer is yes to any of these, please give the Reading Room Secretary a ring on 477 to express an interest.

Kathi's woodwind skills hit the right note

repairing and servicing as well as a major reconstruction and renovation."

The 'wood' part of woodwind is a bit misleading, as most of the work is in metals and plastics (and cork – of which there seems to be a plentiful supply in Youlgrave...). But Kathi is surrounded by wood in her new workshop which she now shares with Brian Roche, the violin maker who has recently moved

Katherine Ward, who has lived locally for over 25 years, has reduced her travelling to work time from 2 hours to 2 minutes!

When Kathi, a teacher by trade, began to find it difficult to find people who could repair her flute pupils' instruments she decided to have a go herself.

"I soon realised how much there was to learn, so I ended up studying woodwind-making and repairs in Newark full time for three years! It was a brilliant opportunity, working alongside students from all over Europe on such a detailed course. We studied all the woodwind instruments from piccolo through flutes, clarinets, oboes, saxophones to bassoons and the huge baritone instruments, covering

Fine displays at the Horticultural Show

The Horticultural Show, held on 3rd September, was well subscribed and attended. Though entries and exhibitor numbers were slightly down on last year, the numbers of visitors were well up, and the Show looked wonderful in the setting of the refurbished Village Hall.

David Robinson, veteran chairman of the Society, and exhibitor for many years, kindly presented the prizes.

Prizes for Flowers and Vegetables were swept by loyal supporters from Darley Dale, with

Mr Ollerenshaw receiving trophies for most points for flowers and vegetables, and for the best flower exhibit. Mr Gill won for the best vegetable exhibit. Mr Gill also carried off the trophies for sweet peas and tomatoes.

The other trophies were awarded as follows:

Floral Art: Margaret Post

Junior Floral Art: Oliver Harrop

Cookery and Handicrafts: Louise Page

Roses: Lilian Clark

Best Baking Exhibit: Joan Roper

R.A.O.B. Cup for most points in flowers and vegetables by a local gardener: John Groom.

As is the custom, the afternoon ended with a lively auction conducted by Douglas Oldfield.

Thanks to everyone for their participation!

REVIEW

Imperial String Ensemble, All Saints Church, 6 September

Youlgrave Church has offered us a feast of the senses as summer ends, firstly with the glorious and deliciously-scented Flower Festival, quickly followed by the delightful concert by the Imperial College String Ensemble – music to soothe the soul at the end of a long, sunny day.

The present Imperial College connection comes from the Gillingwaters of Old Hall Farm; Jessica Gillingwater is a polished viola player. Residents of Moor Lane were treated to preview of the programme as the young musicians rehearsed.

The concert's opening 'number', Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 3, was the most familiar – an old favourite to get everyone going – and was played with great panache. More atmospheric was the Telemann Viola Concerto, evocative of the Baroque-era courts of Europe. You could almost smell the powdered wigs and feel the heavy brocades and damasks! The soloist, Barnaby Adams, played with skill, style and sensitivity. Very clearly, he enjoyed his playing immensely. He is a young man with a bright musical and scientific future.

Moving forward in time, Britten's youthful Simple Symphony showed the composer joyously playing around with familiar folk melodies, a foretaste of much of his later work. The players had great fun with the light-hearted fiddle style. Finally, Elgar's Serenade for Strings was an elegant, essentially late Victorian piece, as English as afternoon tea with just an alluring hint of fin de siècle. It was a serene finale to a programme designed to showcase the many talents of these accomplished musicians under their conductor, Christopher Braime.

OPERATION CHRISTMAS CHILD 2005

Yes, it is shoebox time again! For those of you new to the Project, shoeboxes are filled with all kinds of goodies, covered with Christmas paper and then sent to needy children, mainly in Eastern Europe, and to those especially affected by war, disaster, and poverty. What happens to the shoeboxes is shown quite dramatically on a video or a DVD, if anyone would like to borrow them. The filled shoeboxes should be brought to All Saints Church on Sunday, 20 November, at 11am. This date has now been designated 'National Shoebox Day'!

Last year we collected the magnificent total of 98½ shoeboxes. Can we beat that this year?! There are leaflets with more details available in the local shops and churches. It is important to read the leaflet carefully, as it lists suitable items to go in the boxes and more importantly, things NOT suitable to send. For further information, please ring Barbara on 636601.

Scarves from Germany: Ingrid's link with her past

Back in 1952, Ingrid Newman, together with her mother, sisters and brother, escaped from their birthplace in East Germany into West Berlin. But the family was starving. So at the age of ten, Ingrid knitted mittens and scarves, and sold them to buy food for the family. Half a century on, Ingrid and her English husband have settled in Youlgrave where they have become pillars of the local society. Ingrid spent a number of years as Parish Clerk and is now the Secretary of the Village Hall, while Mike has also been instrumental in the resurgence of the hall at the heart of the community.

And it was when Ingrid and Mike were at a party in the Village Hall that Ingrid noticed that everyone was complementing her on the scarf she was wearing. It was a hand-crafted present from her sister Gisela. "Hey, Gisela," she said that night on the telephone to Germany, "we could start a business selling scarves like the one you knitted for my birthday!" And that was how 'Knitting Inventions' was born. Scarves and belts are knitted both in Germany and England, but all the wool comes from Germany. Now they produce hand-knitted scarves and intricate necklaces and fashion belts that are proving a big hit with the public.

Ingrid has children and grandchildren living in England, Germany and California. Although she is active in the village and also travels a lot, wherever she goes or whatever she does, her knitting needles are never far away. Those early days of knitting for survival gave her the art and the skill, but now she knits entirely for pleasure.

Ingrid and her sister, Gisela, visiting from Germany, will have their knitted scarf inventions on display and show their new ideas and colours for Christmas.

REVIEW

'Beyond the Bells and The Bull', Village Hall, 16 September

Youlgrave Village Hall was packed on Friday 16 September to see a colour film shot and edited by Norman Wilson called 'Beyond The Bells and The Bull', which covered events in the village over the last 70 years. It followed on from the historic 1930s black and white film made by Ronnie Moore – who was interviewed by Norman on the film. Many familiar faces were recognised by members of the audience, and there were some fascinating and moving moments, including coverage of the Peter Hill memorial cricket match and a look back at the Mawstone Mine disaster of the 1930s. Thank you, Norman, for all your effort and hard work. Copies of the DVD are available from Norman on 636284.

GirlGuiding Youlgrave is having an open evening

We are hoping to reopen the Rainbow Unit for girls aged 5-7, however, we need more adult help to do this. The Brownies, Guides and leaders will be available to talk to girls and adults who might be interested in being involved. There will be displays and photos showing activities, events, crafts etc that all the girls enjoyed.

Brownies is for girls aged 7-10 and Guides aged 10-15. However, the GirlGuiding movement is open to girls aged 5 to 65. It's great fun and very rewarding for all concerned come along and find out more

The Scout & Community Hall will be open between 6.15pm and 9pm on Thursday 6th October. Please come along and see us.

Youlgrave / Bangbutt African Evening

This was another very successful and fun event to raise money for Bangbutt. We raised over £900. Thank you to everyone who helped. It was perhaps unwise to hold an event in the village hall on the evening of the Horticultural Show but the speed with which the hall was transformed from Market Garden to African Bazaar was amazing (special thanks to the Horticultural Show helpers).

Our special guests Sammy, Jariatu and John helped the evening go with a swing. We had storytelling, singing, drumming and dancing. We even had Joy, a professional storyteller, who was here on holiday and offered to tell an African story. The African quiz created some animated discussions.

During the evening approx 100 meals were served very efficiently and there was just enough food for everyone (we had brought bread and cheese in reserve for the committee just in case!). There were lots of appreciative comments about the food - well done to the cooks. Some people asked for the recipes so we are producing a laminated recipe sheet with the recipes for- Pearlu Rice, African Vegetable stew, Chakery and Ethiopian Punch. The cost will be £1 a sheet for our funds and will include a free copy of the quiz and answers! If you would like one please contact Dianne Hewitt 01629 636580.

Thanks to everyone who came and supported this event and to the people who couldn't come but donated raffle prizes and money.

Go wild in the garden!

There is much wildlife to see as summer moves into autumn and the days are still quite warm and long. Birds are easier to see after their late summer moult and bats are still active in the evenings. The last generation of butterflies of the year is enjoying late summer flowers and hedges are bursting with ripe fruit. Many useful shrubs for the important source of pre-winter food can be included in the garden. Mountain ash or rowan trees are a useful size for small gardens and come with red, yellow or pinky-white berries. The golden-leaved elder would enhance any border and the firethorn or pyracantha is a reliable source of berries as are some of the smaller forms of cotoneaster.

Wildlife project of the month

Now is the ideal time to sow a wildflower lawn on a weed-free site but with poor soil. Preparation is very important. Fertility can be reduced by removing the top layer of soil. Meadow mixtures of seed designed particularly for chalky soil are easily available. Seed must be sown thinly and can be mixed with silver sand to make it easier to see. The meadow mixtures of seeds can have annual cornfield flowers added for the first year to give cover to developing perennials. The lawn is cut in late summer and cuttings removed to keep fertility low.

POSTCARD FROM SPAIN

I've always had an interest in words and the meaning of certain words; and I've always thought that I was articulate and quite well read – not reading much fiction, generally but sticking to biographies, autobiographies and anything based on something factual. So when I decided I wanted to live in Spain, the obvious thing to do was to learn the language. It would be easy, a doddle, after all I learnt the English language quite easily, albeit with 50 years practice. Alas, it wasn't that easy, so my Spanish is really only passable, and I still have the tendency to drop in English words like, "You know" and "Alright then"... a rather perplexed look always appears on the face of Diego, Pepe or any Spaniard I happen to be talking to at the time. My tutor, when I began to learn Spanish, told me to try and learn words that I thought I might use a lot in conversation, not just how to order a meal or a beer, but words I would use in general conversation in English. So now my friends and family back in Youlgrave will be pleased to know that according to one of my Spanish neighbours, I now have perfected the art of 'Confrontational Spanish' as opposed to the more widely taught 'Conversational Spanish'.

Anyway, getting back to words, I was dismayed to find that since I departed your cold and rain sodden shores for an easier life in the perpetual Sun, new strange words and phrases have infected your day to day chattering. What words, you may ask? You don't notice them because they are dropped into conversation gradually, until they become part of the language. For instance, people now employ a 'Life Coach' (that's somebody who does the job your Mother used to do before you got married, then your Wife took over the task of telling you what was best for you). 'Triage' – that's a word that's crept into medical parlance. 'Downsizing' we used to call 'going bust' – we don't get rid of unwanted things now, we 'downsize'. My favourite is 'Celebrity', but what is a Celebrity? From what I've seen on TV, a Celebrity can be virtually anybody. Had anybody heard of Mr Cosgrove before he became a Celebrity? (I haven't even heard of him now – Ed.) My own definition of a Celebrity is somebody who doesn't actually achieve anything, but gets rather well paid for not doing anything. A bit like George Dubya really.
